

BOVIN WINE TASTING COMPLEX

NEGOTINO - KURIJA

The Bovin Wine Tasting Complex is located near the village of Kurija, on a flat agricultural parcel framed by mountains on three sides. Originally a warehouse for agricultural equipment, the building has been expanded to include a wine tasting venue. Three distinctive volumes define the intervention: two horizontal forms following the existing structure's levels, and a detached vertical tower positioned as a landmark at the site's highest point. The tower serves as the main entrance and connects to the elevated restaurant via a closed bridge. Large southwest-facing openings frame vineyard views and draw in natural light. The use of natural materials at ground level allows the extension to blend with the landscape, giving the composition a light, floating appearance within the open field.
