

INTERIOR DESIGN

MOUNTAIN APARTMENT ANH

ABOUT PROJECT

MOUNTAIN APARTMAN ANH

Mountain Apartment ANH is located on famous mountain near Sarajevo. The apartment was designed for a family of four which would use the space for rest. The space is light, airy and incorporates wood textures with the aim of resembling mountain atmosphere and its unique nature.

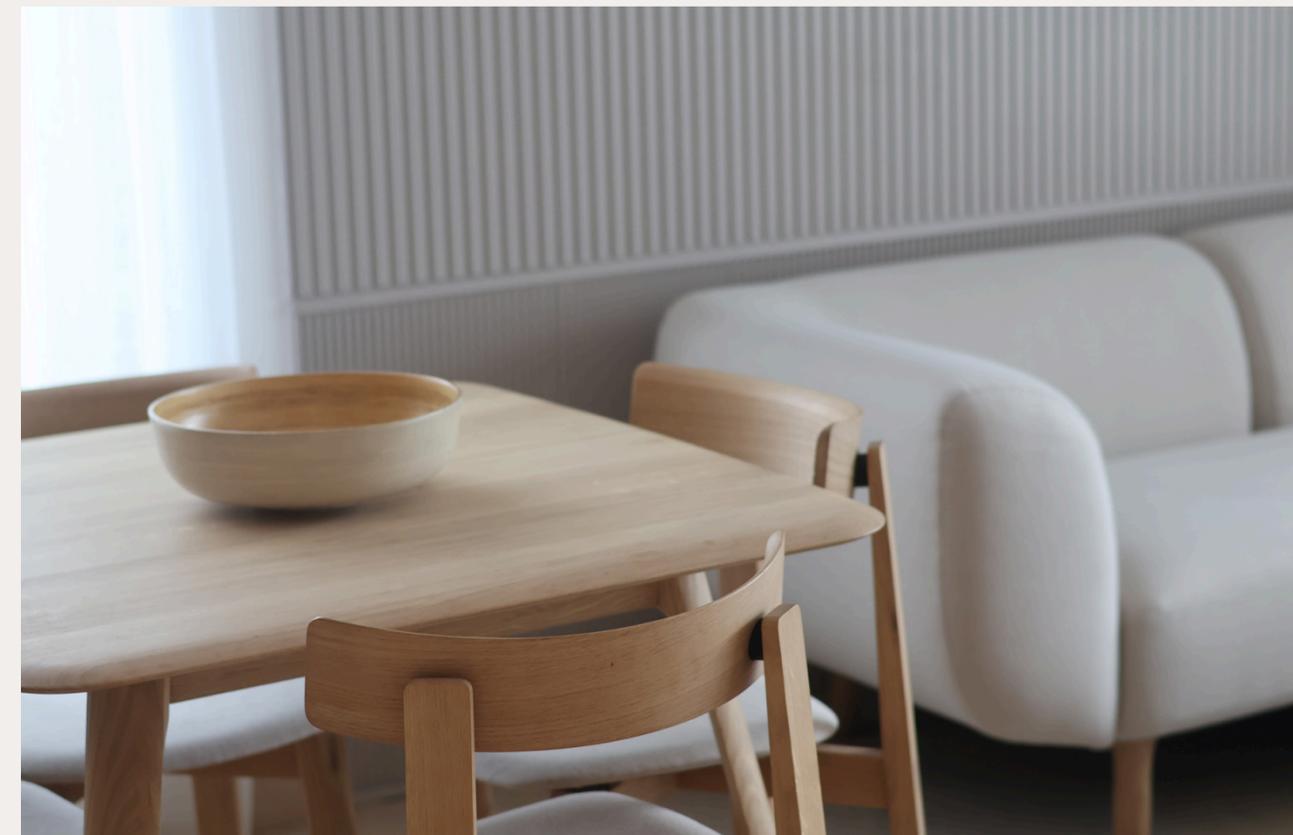

Page 03

LIVING SPACE AND KITCHEN

The living area with kitchen and dining are designed smaller in space, in order to incorporate two additional bedrooms. Semi-round shape of kitchen island was used to make the living space more functional, with kitchen countertop made of fundermax

LIVING ROOM AREA

Representation of TV stand with cabinet
Seating area

KITCHEN

Page 05

Representation of kitchen materials and textures

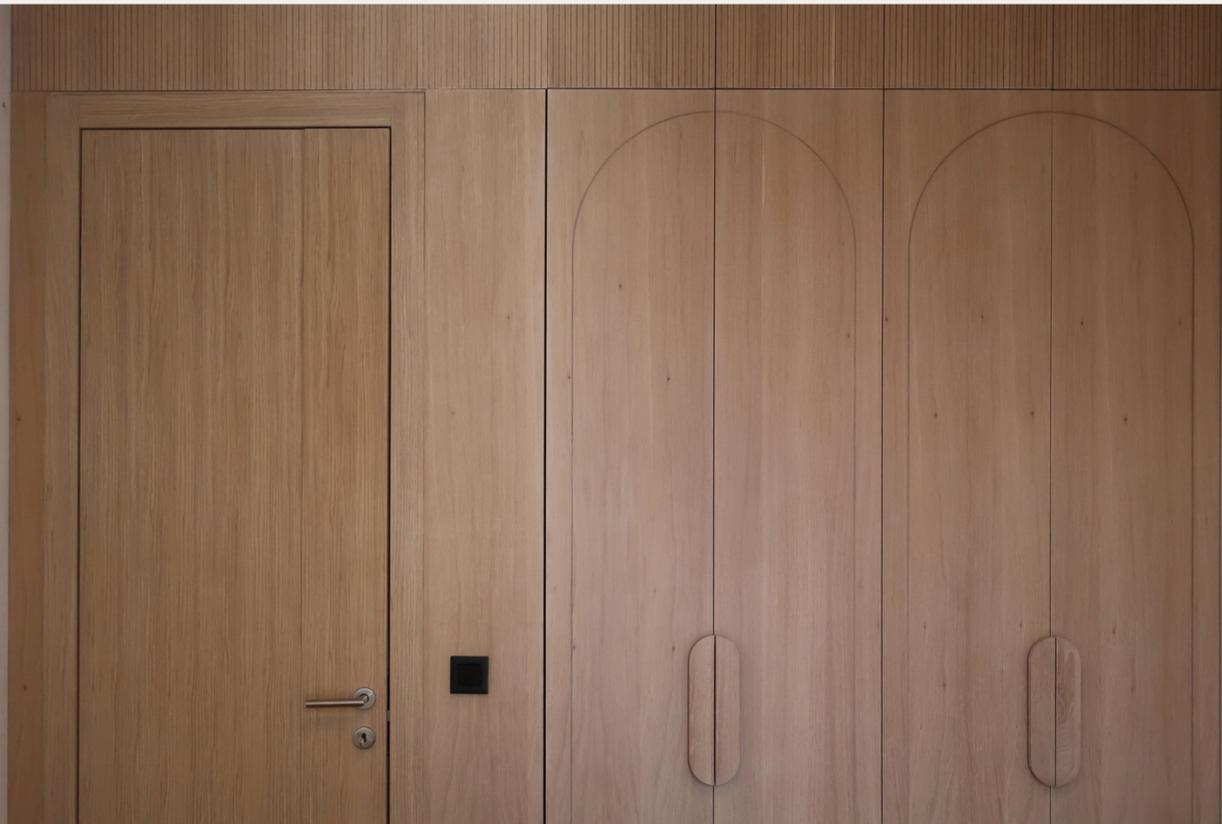

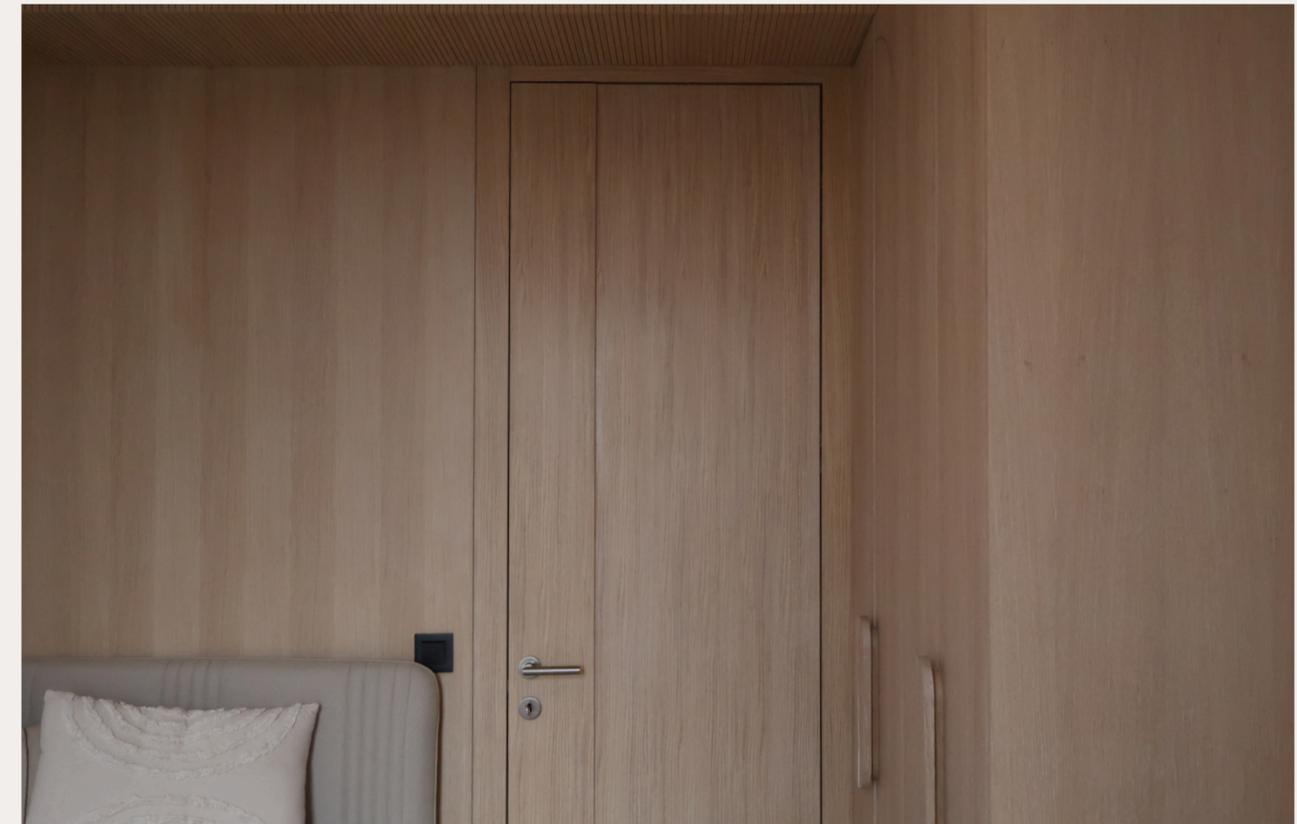

Page 06

BEDROOMS AND BATHROOM

In order to use the space to its full potential and create a space comfortable and tidy to the eye, special wardrobes were made within the hallway and rooms, which look like decorative wall coverings. To achieve the completeness of the design, the bathroom incorporates tiles with stone texture.

BEDROOM

Page 07

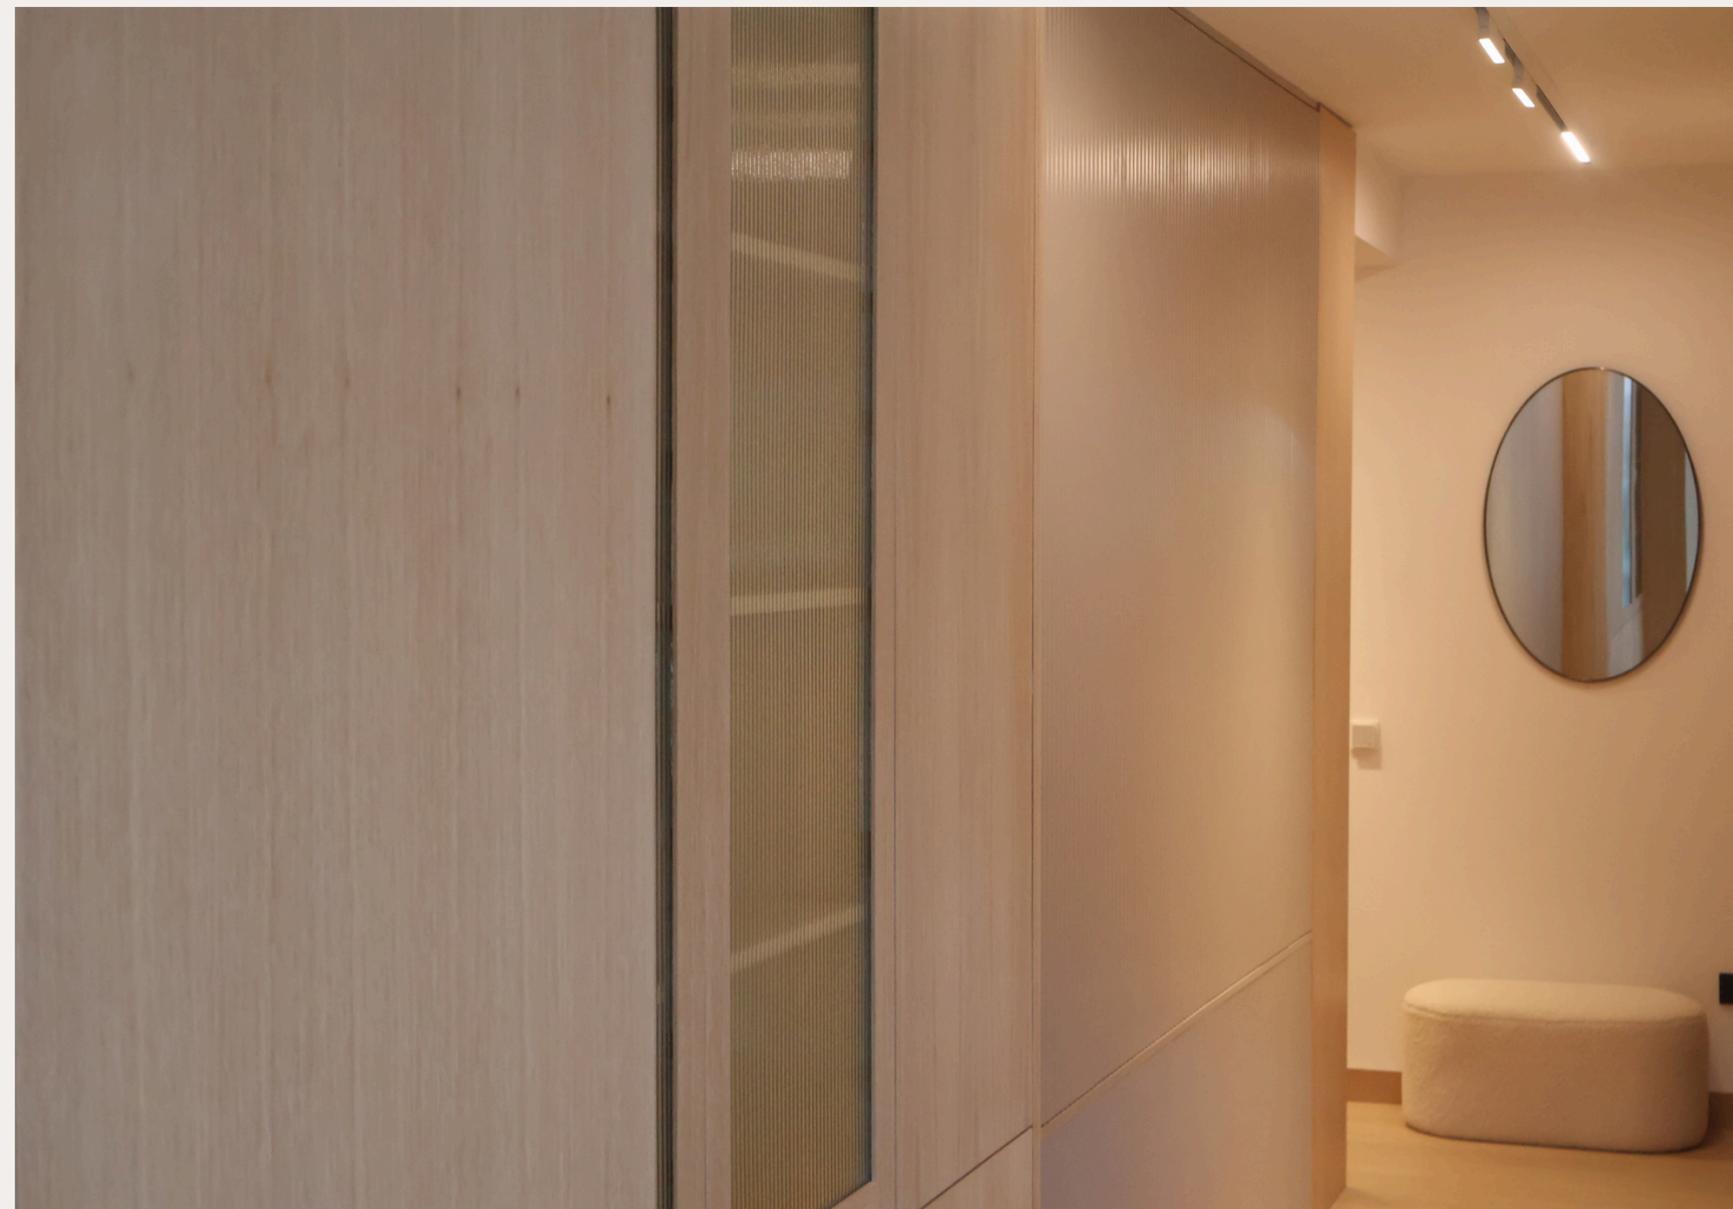

Representation of wardrobe details and materials

HALLWAY

Representation of TV stand with cabinet
Seating area

DETAILS

Page 06

Details showing wardrobe handles, combination of textures and materials on kitchen cabinets and wall coverings and panels.

View of the Hallway with fluid Transition into Living Room

HANDLE DETAILS

KITCHEN

FEEL THE MOUNTAIN

Apartment ANH is located on a famous mountain near Sarajevo. The apartment was designed for a family of four which would use the space for rest. Their wish was to have a functional but also beautiful space that would be of use to their needs. The space is light, and airy and incorporates wood textures to resemble a mountain atmosphere and its unique nature. To use the space to its full potential and create a space comfortable and tidy to the eye, special wardrobes were made within the hallway which look like decorative wall coverings. The living area with kitchen and dining area was designed smaller in space to incorporate two additional bedrooms. The semi-round shape of the kitchen island was used to make the living space more functional, with the kitchen countertop made of fundermax. To sustainably use all the material available, the coffee table in the living room was designed by Architectural studio and made from the remaining elements of the Fundermax kitchen countertop. To achieve the completeness of the design the bathroom incorporates tiles with stone texture. All the details including the handles on the wardrobes are specially designed for this interior.

The entire concept is based on the idea of the apartment feeling like a warm, welcoming mountain retreat, similar to a well designed hotel suit. It was created for a family from the city who uses it as a place to rest and disconnect.

The design ensures that everything has its place, with a cohesive aesthetic that flows consistently throughout every room. Natural materials were exclusively used, with a strong emphasis on the warmth and texture of wood, which plays a central role in creating a cozy and authentic mountain atmosphere.